Digital Footprint

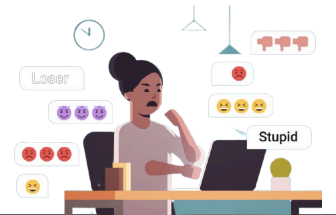

Everything you post online stays there forever even if it's deleted.

Our digital footprint is responsible for our online reputation.

What I need to know:

- The most successful vloggers make a lot of money.
- Vloggers make money by allowing YouTube to use adverts on their videos.
- Being famous online can lead to negative attention from others.

- Putting information about your life online can mean you have less privacy.
- The things we post online now may still be around when we grow up.
- Posting inappropriate things online can have consequences in real life.

- Breaking copyright laws can lead to a person being fined.
